Windsor Locks CT.

Joseph Smith 11/21

Preparing for another time of change in our lives, we the Class of 1994 would like to pay tribute to a special person who has helped us throughout our high school careers. The selfless dedication she has shown so often in helping us prepare for our future means more than words will allow. Without her, many future dreams and hopes would not be possible. We realize that many times in our lives we seem to overlook the people who have done the most for us. We would like to take this opportunity to show we appreciate all she has done for us. We the Class of 1994 dedicate the 1994 Herald to Mrs. Patricia Van Bramer.

In the beginning, the Class of 1994 was weary of change, but we soon grew fond of the idea of being trendsetters rather than followers. We wanted to stop traveling that mundane path, for we knew that it would keep leading us to the same destination.

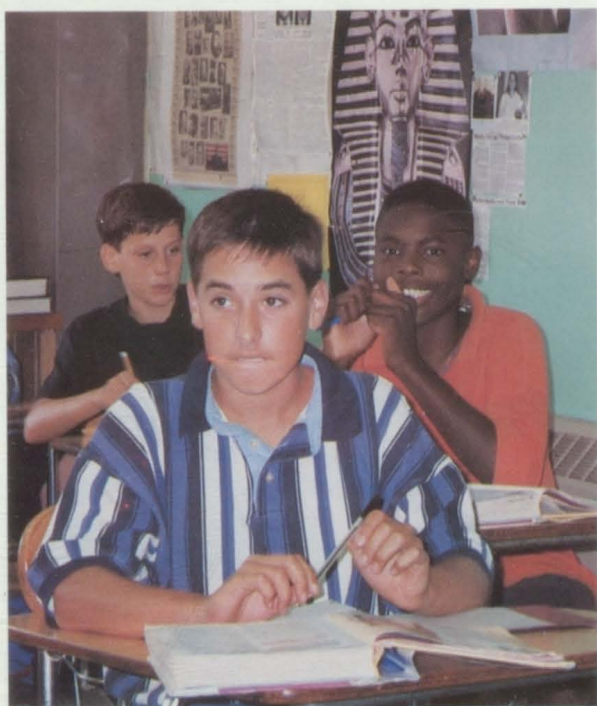

As the Class of '94,
we had to make our own mark. We felt compelled to engineer
a change that would not soon be forgotten.

As we now leave, we are not only a class, but a family that has borne friendship, love, and acceptance. We are now ready and able to bring about a great change for the future, hoping that the succeeding classes will follow our path and bring about their changes.

Now as the Class of 1994 looks back, other classes look ahead in anticipation of what to expect in future years at W.L.H.S. Together, as we travel through the pages of this book, we will see many of the changes that we have initiated.

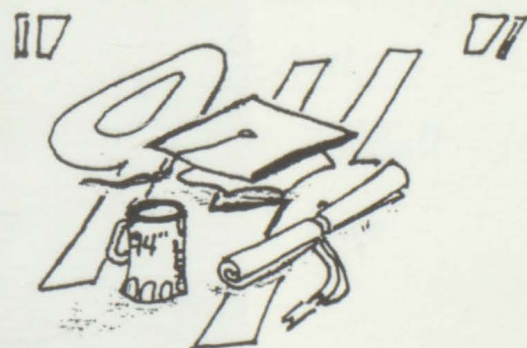

Travel down our path and witness our legacy . . .

SENIORS

Our enthusiasm and spirit impelled the Class of 1994 to make a difference, and the personality of the class as a whole made success inevitable. Achievement in both academics and activities has substantiated the fact that we have, indeed, made a difference. One of our greatest accomplishments has been the Magazine Drive. Our initial goal was limited because our number was small, but through our determined effort, we have surpassed all expectations and have emerged with a new self-confidence.

Now meet the students who are responsible for making the Class of 1994 a memorable one.

Our decision to hold the Junior Prom in the gym was met with much skepticism. In the minds of everyone were questions and doubts. "Could it be done?" "How would it look?" With determination the prom committee started many months of planning and hard work. Those last few days in April were a frenzy of activity. Then the metamorphosis occurred. We found ourselves on the threshold of our "Evening in Venice" . . .

JUNIOR PROM COURT — L-R: Gwen Smith; King, Dararith Ly; Barbara Kiss; Queen, Jodi Anderson; Cheryl McCauley.

The Prom Committee

The Prom

... As we crossed the bridge on prom night our spirits were lifted. The charm of the setting captured our hearts. We strolled through the cafe and along the canal for a breathtaking view of the city. We lingered in the gazebo with its twinkling lights and conversed in the gracious lantern-lit park. We danced in the shadow of a castle as music filled the air. In our gowns and tuxedos we were the perfect complement for the romantic atmosphere.

UNDERCLASSMEN

The underclassmen of our school prove that change wears many faces, each with its own expression. Though there are similarities among the classes, the differences between classes are apparent on their faces. Wearing the face of anxiety, the Freshmen enter the high school unsure of what to expect as they travel along their newly founded paths. The passage to Sophomore year gives students a look of confidence as they become aware of their destinations. By Junior year the path has become clearer and the students display faces of pride as they continue on their journey.

STUDENT LIFE

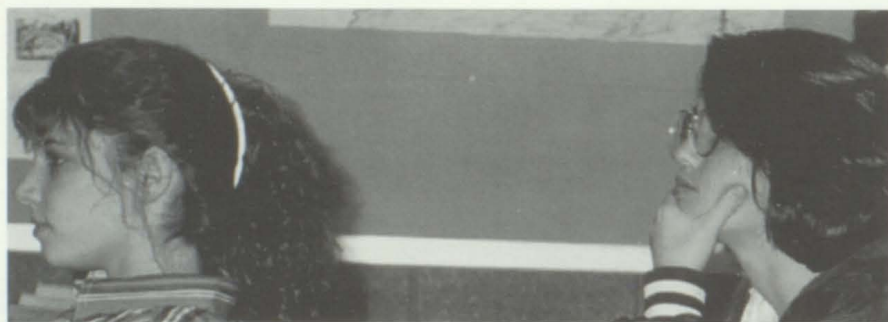

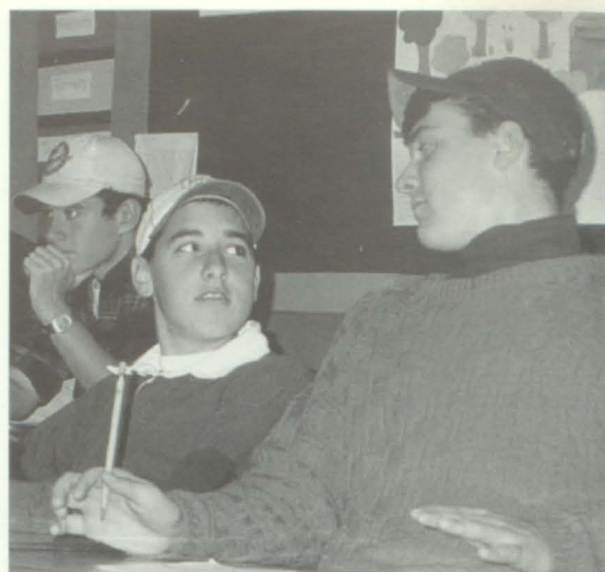

Windsor Locks Superintendent Lloyd Calvert, said it best when he said, "I have come to recognize that the Windsor Locks public schools are the Hartford area's best kept secret." The high school population may be small in number, but that does not make it insignificant. Throughout the year students participate in numerous activities that transpire during both day and evening. The individuals incorporate their unique and special abilities to attain the ultimate objective — greatness. Without hesitation and with much willingness they show their spirit, prove their intelligence, show off their talents, and demonstrate their strong leadership abilities.

SPORTS

Like the weather, sports play an integral part in the changing seasons, especially to the devoted athletes of the student body. Fresh new faces bring in their raw talents adding enthusiasm and dedication, while older members add their experience. Together their skill and agility is apparent to all who observe the athletes in action. The cheerleaders lead the crowd in cheers that convey energy to the players. The excitement fills the air and the adrenalin flows as the cheers of encouragement come choring from the spirited onlookers. The final score does not always depict the drive and determination personified by our athletic teams.

"Now where did you say our meet is? The YMCA or the YWCA?" -K.Baron and A.King

"Our record does not reflect our dedication, spirit, and desire." -E.Farr and S.Radia

"Always keep your eye on the ball." -S.Claffey

"Always try hard and believe in yourself and you'll be surprised at how far you've actually come." -D.Brace

"Be enthusiastic and have fun." -V.Quagliaroli and A.Connelly

"Spirit and soul are the driving forces of success. Stamp the world with your personality, make an impression! Be enthusiastic, be faithful, and you will always go far. And always do it with a smile!" -M.Ruggiero, V.Quagliaroli, A.Connelly, and Coach A.Jordan

"Smile." -M.Ruggiero

"No matter what team you're on, always concentrate." -J.Cutler

"Somewhere, someone is practicing. Be as ready as they are, and you'll do OK." -Coach R.Widmer

"Never say 'can't', it's not in my vocabulary!" -Coach K.Malone

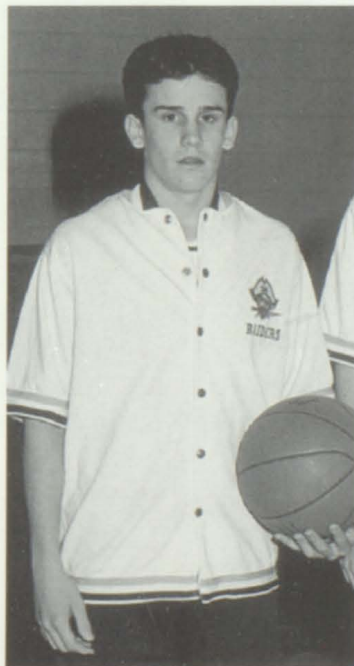

"Invincibility lies in the defense; the possibility of victory in the attack." -Sun Tzu (T.Farr)

"Never say I can't." -Coach P.Scelza

"Do not pray for an easy life, pray to be a stronger person." -M.Navaroli

"United we stand, divided we fall, together we can all stand tall." -A.Criscitelli

"Cross-country is about more than winning and losing. It is about self-sacrifice, dedication, euphoria, anger and frustration, desire and respect for your body and for other runners." -Rachel O'Dell (Coach A.Leimbach and Coach J.O'Brien)

"Nothing is impossible to a willing heart." Those that give their very best can never know defeat; as the victories are sometimes delayed until the future. -Coach D.Sullivan

"Success is not always measured in wins and losses. But, instead, in pride, determination, and hardwork. We were a success." -Coach T.McKenna

"I run therefore I ache." -M.Ryan

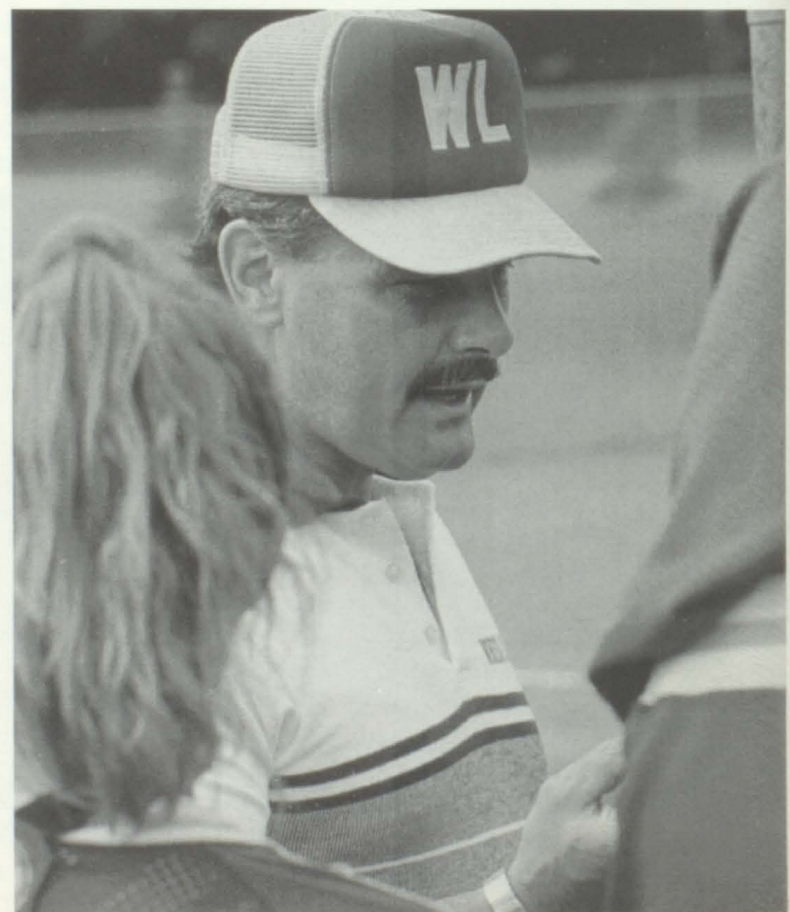

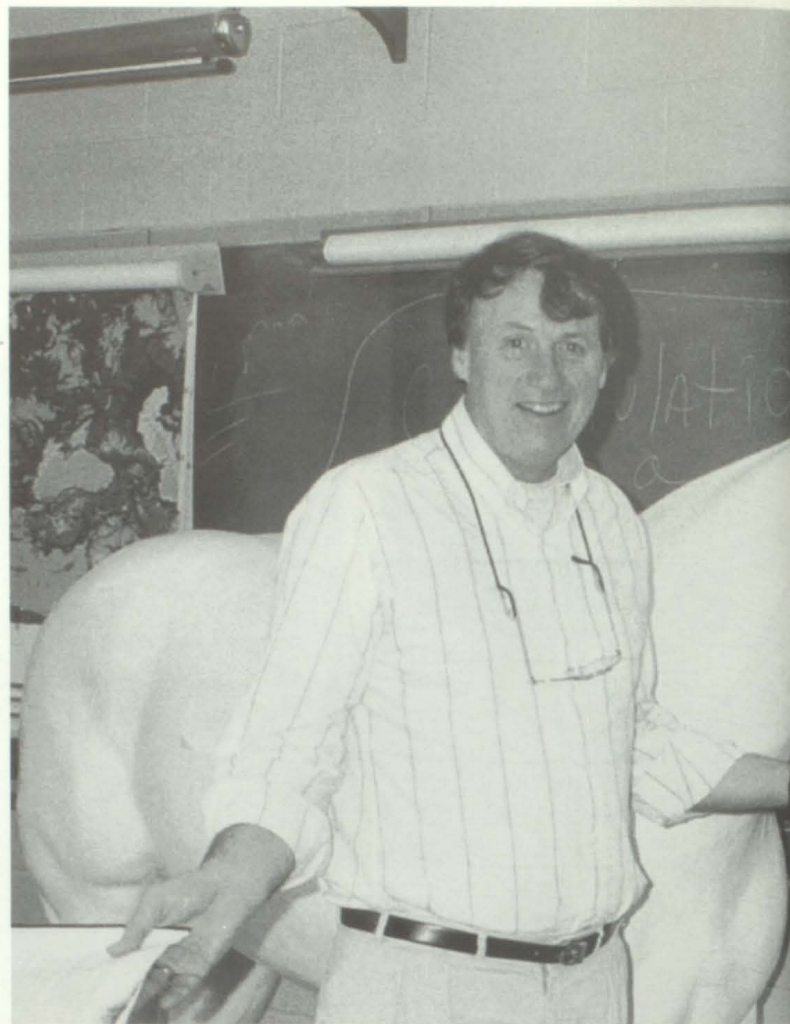

"Why do I do this to myself." -S.Bushnik

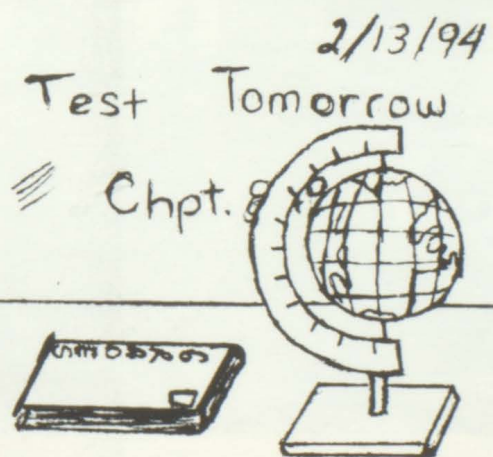

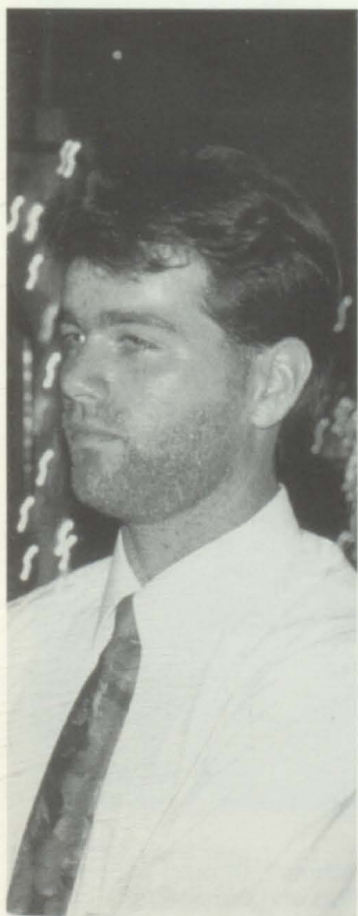

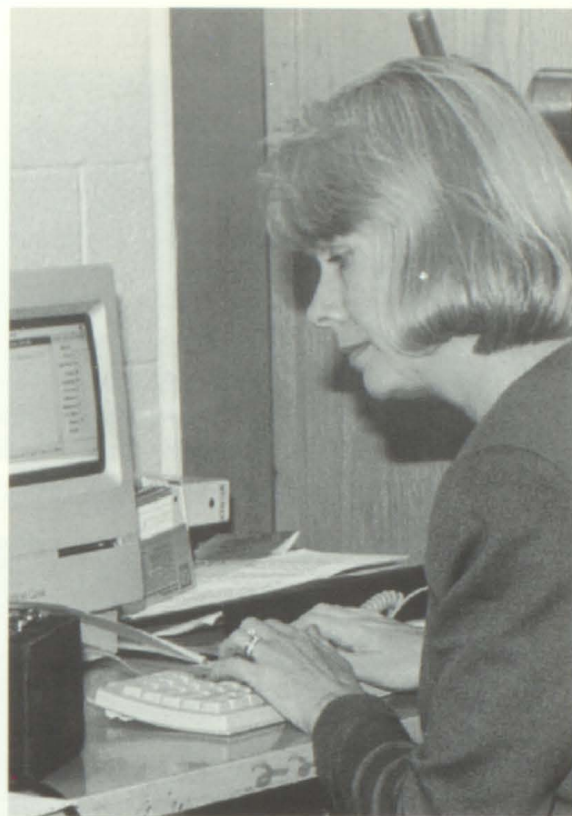

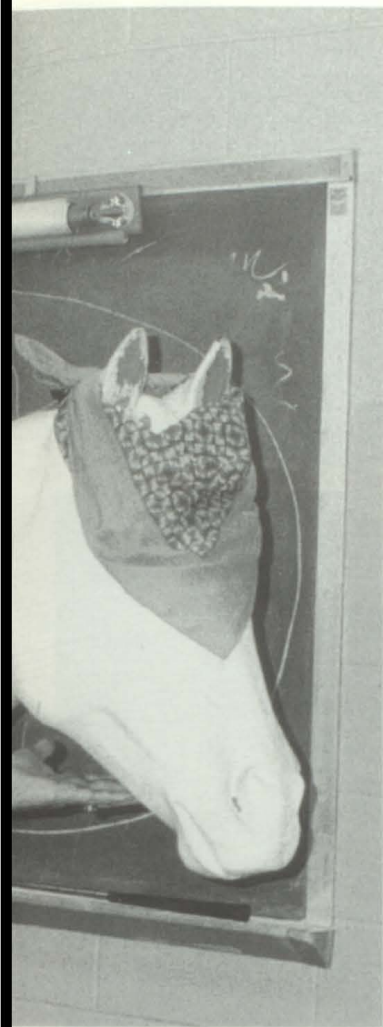

"Sports provide the participant with more than wins and losses. They provide lessons in life to apply for a lifetime." -C.Battistini

FACULTY

At Windsor Locks High School the faculty is the core of our intellectual and personal development. They are the many staff members that encourage us to seek out and follow the unventured path. The staff members are there not only to educate, but to help each student prepare for his or her future. They are our mentors, offering their knowledge and their encouragement. Although we may not have direct contact with each faculty member, we know that in some way they are helping us change for the better; leading us in the right direction.

The administration of the Windsor Locks school system has to make some tough decisions every year. Due to budget constraints, certain non-academic programs have to be cut in order to uphold the academic standards of the school system. These decisions are not always met with approval by the students, but they are inevitable consequences of the economy. The administration is here to motivate the students toward a successful future. Robert W. Hetzel, an Arizona administrator, said, "Bad decisions are a result of bad process. All of us have the ability to learn to become effective problem solvers, to make schools places where problems are viewed as challenges and people have the trust, confidence, and skill to challenge the toughest problems with new solutions."

THE GIFT

She was born nearly 18 years prior. Her parents watched in awe as the fruit of their love flourished and grew in stature, wisdom, and strength. They rejoiced in her first words and steps, cried secretly over scraped knees, bruised egos, and lost friends. Proudly watched as she spread her wings to more fully experience life. There had been talent shows, ballet recitals, band concerts, show choir competitions, college preparations and even an 'Up with People' interview. They marveled at her indomitable spirit.

Then one day, without warning, the child was no more. . . In her place was a fine young woman, prepared to meet her future, no longer dependent on her parents.

How empty they felt over the loss of their gift! They wondered where the time had gone. Yet in her final year in high school, they came to understand that their precious gift received so long ago had not been a child, but an everlasting friend.

Jen-May all your dreams come true!

Ryan,

CONGRATULATIONS!

It's hard to believe you are already graduating! It seems like only yesterday you came home from kindergarten, so proud of yourself because you learned the Pledge of Allegiance . . . "I led the pigeons to the flag . . ."

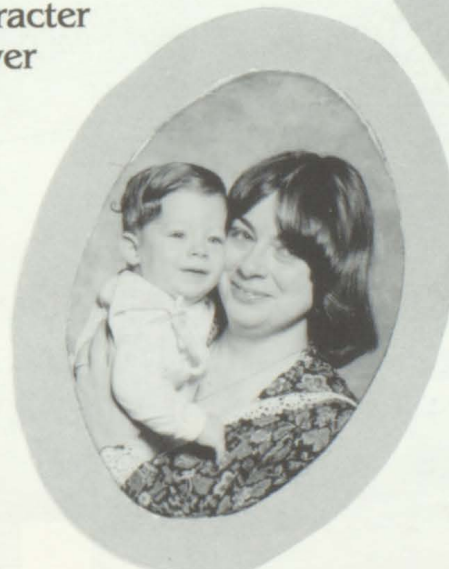

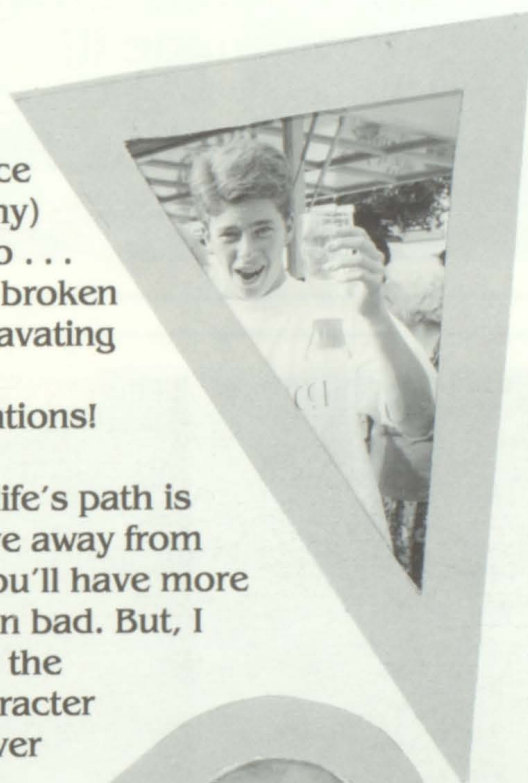

We've shared a lot — both good times (like gondola rides in Venice and fests in Germany) and bad times too . . . (the big "D," a broken back, and aggravating adult/teenager miscommunications!

Now that your life's path is starting to move away from mine, I hope you'll have more good times than bad. But, I know you have the strength of character to make it through whatever life brings you and never give in to despair.

I wish you the best of health, the best of friends, contentment with your choices, no regrets, and lots of love. Always listen to your heart and you'll do the right thing.

Val,

As the first child in our family,
You've been blessed with boundless energy.
You are often stubborn and sometimes bold,
But always with a heart of gold.

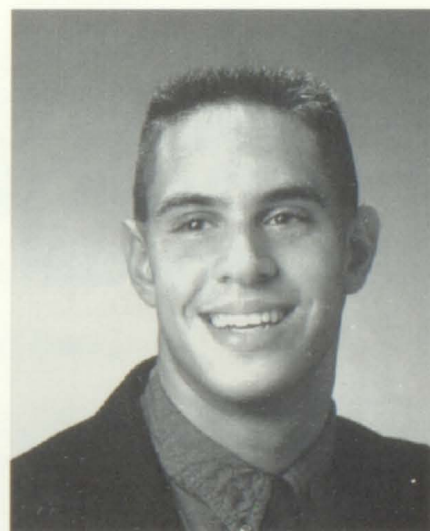

In the past few years you have made us feel good,
You've channeled that energy just as you should.

We wonder now what your future will hold,
As we see you graduate and strive for your goals.

You've learned from us to always be true,
To your family and friends but mostly to you.
Work hard every day-always do your best,
Stay enthusiastic-these are your keys to success.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Editor's Note...

When Mrs. Trosky asked me to go to Yearbook Camp last summer my first reaction was, "You want me to go where?" I had heard of basketball camp, soccer camp, and even show choir camp but I had never heard of yearbook camp. Not knowing what to expect from four days of "intensive yearbook fun" I left for Mt. Holyoke College with certain apprehensions. However what I learned during those few days inspired many of the changes that were made in the 1994 Herald. I think this yearbook is one of the best that Windsor Locks has ever had because it reflects the changing attitudes of the school.

Being Editor has been one of the most exciting activities I have ever been involved in. The rewards of yearbook were not gained without stress (AND LOTS OF IT!) The Friday night deadline "parties" until 11:00, missing pictures, missing staff, and all the discs erased. . . TWICE caused "minor" frustrations. The staff was able to overcome these setbacks and learn from them (as soon as we calmed down Mrs. Trosky.)

Yearbook took a lot of commitment and hard work. This year especially was difficult as much of the book was changed. However when the proofs started coming in and we saw what our work had produced, all the hours spent in the yearbook room were well worth the time. The staff is justifiably proud of its creation and I am proud to have been Editor of the 1994 Herald.

I would like to extend my thanks to all those who donated their time and services to the yearbook: Ms. Colo for our first deadline, Mrs. Lennon and Mrs. Kozak for the endless address labels, Mr. Cullinan for his open mind, Mr. Czarniecki for coming to take pictures an hour after we called him, Mrs. Trosky for not having a nervous breakdown, Wayne Quagliaroli and the Evergreen Tree Service for the cherry picker they loaned us for our 94 picture, Mrs. VanBramer for working her White Out magic, all those who put in the ads without which we would have been unable to afford the yearbook, Denny Galvin for his quick responses to our cries of desperation, the dedicated staff members who gave up many of their Friday nights and vacation days to come into school and work on yearbook, and last but not least the entire student population for being so open and supportive of the changes that were made in the yearbook.

Jennifer Nicole Carrier

Closing

Summer is just around the corner and the students of Windsor Locks High School are looking in many different directions. For the Seniors this will be a summer full of conflicting emotions. Excitement, nervousness, sadness, elation, and fear are all feelings that they experience as they face the rest of their lives. They are anxious to embrace their future, but are also reluctant to leave behind the lives with which they have become so comfortable.

The underclassmen can expect another summer of strengthening old friendships and forging new ones. When they return in the fall, it will be their decision to carry on the changes made by the Class of 1994, or to make changes of their own. Whatever the future holds for the classes of Windsor Locks High School, one thing is certain; the skills they have learned, the friendships they have made, and the goals they have reached will enable them to create their own time for change.
